PLEASE DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE

Highway accidents, injuries and deaths involving drunken drivers continue to be our most pressing highway safety problem. In 2009, 12,744 people were killed in alcohol-related auto crashes in the United States. In South Carolina alone, 423 people died in traffic accidents involving drivers whose blood alcohol levels exceeded the legally acceptable limit.

Think about that. Picture a city of 12,744 people, or a village of 423 people. See their faces, share their dreams. Picture these people with their relatives, friends and communities. The impact and the extent of alcohol-related fatalities extends to every age group and social stratum in the country. We are all affected. Would we allow this to happen under any other circumstances? If 12,744 died in airline crashes, what would we do? Even more to the point, what if airline pilots were found to be legally intoxicated in airplane accidents that claimed the lives of 12,744 people? What would we do? Stand up, shout at the top of our lungs, and mobilize to prevent such atrocities from happening?

Of course we would. As a society, we would not allow such a waste of human lives. If 12,744 people died in a natural disaster, we surely would take measures to prevent its reoccurrence. Surely, we would not allow it to happen year after year. Why should we allow it on our highways?

Every day, troopers spend hours assisting victims of auto accidents and dealing with the trauma of injury and death on the highways. The South Carolina Trooper Members of AAST recognize the necessity of stopping the alcohol-related highway massacre.

The South Carolina Trooper Members of AAST deliver a message loud and clear to its citizen sponsors – DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE! Citizen sponsors are provided with this gruesome alcohol-related traffic fatality information in an effort to focus attention on this message.

“DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE!” Bumper stickers are given to citizen sponsors as a constant reminder to them, and to the drivers around them, that drinking and driving don't mix.
