2010 Fatalities in Motor Vehicle Traffic Crashes by Driver BAC

Source: National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, U.S. Department of Transportation. Fatalities in motor vehicle traffic crashes by the highest driver BAC in the crash, 2010 Fatal Analysis Reporting System (FARS).

Highway accidents, injuries and deaths involving drunken drivers continue to be our most pressing highway safety problem. In 2010, 10,228 people were killed in alcohol-related auto crashes in the United States. In West Virginia alone, 10,228 people died in traffic accidents involving drivers whose blood alcohol levels exceeded the legally acceptable limit.

Think about that. Picture a city of 10,228 people, or a village of 88 people. See their faces, share their dreams. Picture these people with their relatives, friends and communities. The impact and the extent of alcohol-related fatalities extends to every age group and social stratum in the country. We are all affected. Would we allow this to happen under any other circumstances? If 10,228 died in airline crashes, what would we do? Even more to the point, what if airline pilots were found to be legally intoxicated in airplane accidents that claimed the lives of 10,228 people? What would we do? Stand up, shout at the top of our lungs, and mobilize to prevent such atrocities from happening?

Of course we would. As a society, we would not allow such a waste of human lives. If 10,228 people died in a natural disaster, we surely would take measures to prevent its reoccurrence. Surely, we would not allow it to happen year after year. Why should we allow it on our highways?

Every day, troopers spend hours assisting victims of auto accidents and dealing with the trauma of injury and death on the highways. The West Virginia trooper members of AAST recognize the necessity of stopping the alcohol-related highway massacre.

The West Virginia trooper members of AAST deliver a message loud and clear to its citizen sponsors – DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE! Citizen sponsors are provided with this gruesome alcohol-related traffic fatality information in an effort to focus attention on this message.

This Child Safety Record is Provided to You by the AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF STATE TROOPERS

Keep This Information In A Safe, Easily Accessible Place

If your child should ever disappear, take this information to the local police department immediately. Try to remember as many details as possible. For more information about child safety, contact your local child protection agency. Nationally, 1-800-THE-LOST.

CHILD SAFETY TIPS

- Never leave children alone or unattended in a car, public place or grocery cart.
- Teach children how to use the telephone and how to dial the operator and ask for the police.
- Encourage children to "buddy-up" and go in pairs to the park or store.
- Teach children not to answer the door when home alone and not to allow strangers into the home.
- Teach children to look for a policeman or other designated authority figure (store clerk) if they are separated from parents or get lost.
- Teach children never to take a ride from strangers or get close to an unfamiliar car.
- Teach children early their full name, address and phone number with area code. Be sure they know in which state they live.

HOW TO USE INK PAD FOR THUMBPRINT:

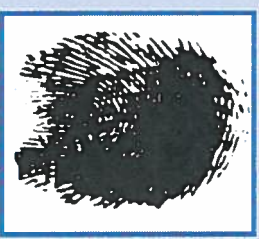

READ ALL INSTRUCTIONS FIRST!

Practice on notepaper before applying print to graph. The print is acceptable as long as the center of the print is clear and unsmudged. Do not roll the thumb.

1. Place ink pad on a flat surface.
2. Hold child's right thumb rigid, lightly place the thumb on pad, then lightly apply to chart.

Dear Friend,

We would like to take this opportunity to invite you to support the AAST's West Virginia trooper members! Through your generous support, you are providing the American Association of State Troopers (AAST) with the resources to provide benefits and support to our trooper members throughout the nation. The Association is fraternal in nature and is not a labor union or collective bargaining organization.

The American Association of State Troopers' mission is to provide nationwide camaraderie, benefits, public safety awareness programs and support for the AAST Scholarship Foundation program. AAST is not a law enforcement agency. Its entire membership consists of active or retired state highway patrol officers, state troopers and state police officers who voluntarily choose to participate in its programs.

AAST members receive a variety of benefits above and beyond what is provided by their individual state agency. The AAST also provides public awareness information on critical issues such as Child Identification, Don't Drink and Drive, Automobile Child Restraint and the promotion of Seat Belt usage. We are proud of our involvement in these public safety efforts. When we give you a call, we hope you'll agree to send in a donation. Donors, like yourself, have made an impact on our ability to continue providing these services to law enforcement officers in your community.

The West Virginia chapter of AAST consists of active, as well as retired, troopers. By supporting these trooper members of AAST, you demonstrate your commitment to support programs for AAST trooper members in West Virginia and across the country. In order to ensure the success of this campaign, you will be happy to know that we employed the expert services of Xental, Inc., a paid professional fundraiser, and we thank them for their assistance with this program. A portion of your contribution will stay in your community to fund programs and services for West Virginia members of AAST. The remaining funds are used to defray the costs of this sponsor appeal. We could not maintain our programs without community sponsorship and support. AAST maintains its headquarters at 1949 Raymond Diehl Road, Tallahassee, FL 32308-3841, (800) 708-AAST. For questions about AAST, contact Ken Howes, Executive Director, at 1-800-765-5456, ext. 202. West Virginia residents may obtain a summary of the registration and financial documents from the Secretary of State, State Capitol, Charleston, WV 25305. Registration does not imply endorsement.

Thank you again! Your support would be greatly appreciated by the West Virginia Trooper members of AAST.

Dear [Sponsor],
We want to take this opportunity to wish you a very happy, healthy and prosperous 2012.
In the recent past, you answered YES to the call to help State Troopers who need your support. Are you willing to keep up the good work?

If so, we have an opportunity you'll like a lot. The American Association of State Troopers is about to kick off the annual phone campaign, but before we do we're contacting faithful supporters like you. Here's the opportunity: help us start strong by making your donation by mail NOW, so we can take your name off the campaign phone calling list. That's one less call you need to squeeze into your busy schedule. It also saves us considerable expense in phone charges, time and paperwork. This makes your generous gift go even farther.

Your kickoff gift will also put fresh heart into scores of dedicated law officers, doing their dangerous duty every day on America's increasingly busy highways. Because we are not a law enforcement agency or other part of government, AAST is free to help state highway patrol officers, state troopers and state police officers...active and retired...across the country with a full slate of supportive services.

AAST members receive a variety of benefits above and beyond what is provided by their individual state agency.

Enjoy the enclosed safety program materials as a sample of our work. Please feel free to use them in your own improvement efforts, and to promote public safety and awareness.

The West Virginia chapter of AAST consists of active, as well as retired, troopers. By supporting these trooper members, you demonstrate your commitment to the programs for AAST's trooper members in West Virginia and across the country. A portion of your contribution will assist with the benefits and services that AAST's West Virginia members receive. The remaining funds are used to defray the costs of this sponsor appeal.
